CHAINS BREAK

Tattoo removal for human trafficking survivors, those exiting the gang lifestyle, and other oppressive tattoos

501(c)3 in partnership with community resource council

As Chains Break developed its mission to fund and locate tattoo removal services for survivors, we realized that there were many reasons that people have unwanted ink that stands in the way of personal freedom, all with their own unique stories and why removing that specific tattoo would provide them with relief. Therefore, Chains Break even though funding tattoo removal for human trafficking survivors is our foremost endeavor, we have expanded our efforts to remove unwanted gang, hate, obscene, pornographic, and demonic/occult tattoos.

Our Services

We provide scholarships to cover tattoo removal for human trafficking survivors, those exiting the gang lifestyle, and others with tattoos that significantly stand in their way of personal freedom.

Our Vision

To see all chained tattoos broken through the removal of unwanted ink that may be accompanied by emotional, physical, or spiritual bondage. To see one less brand in the world as a result of human trafficking and gang lifestyle.

"I think the removal of brand or tattoos are probably just as important as therapy in your healing journey. It's just the physical version. To see something visibly disappear, something that held you captive for so long start to fade, leave. That's healing itself."
